BRITISH BOXERS.

PUBLIC TIRED OF BOOMED
PRETENCE.

Some recent comments on this subject
by our London correspondent are reinforced in the following article from The Observer:

Most of the sporting writers, commenting on the recent decisive defeat of Jack Bloomfield by Tom Gibbons, bemoan the fact that there seems no early prospect of Britain regaining the World's Championship in the heavy-weight class. They are right. There is no prospect under present conditions, and there never will be till those conditions change radically.

What justification there was for any belief that Bloomfield could beat Gibbons, and what fragment of hope there might have been for believing that he could successfully meet Dempsey and win the championship, it is now more than ver-dily to discover. He would not last thirty seconds with Dempsey, and it is doubtful whether he would stand up for five rounds to any one of half a dozen other American boxers less experienced than Gibbons.

This is not intended to be a personal criticism of Bloomfield. From popular purport of his record before he was beaten at Wembley, it might be imagined that he was a fisherman, not a fighter, while, on the other hand, Gibbons's claim to fame would seem to rest, not on his ring record, but upon his capacity to consume unlimited quantities of ice cream. That is just what is wrong with the Press publicity about these fighting men. The general public gets no real idea of the pugilistic experience of contestants, and consequently it rarely understands why,
of two men, assumed to be reasonably well-matched for a fight, one proves such an easy victim to the other. If the public knew that some man had fought scores of times and had met and beaten dozens of boxers equally well-tried in ring craft, after years of schooling in a very tough arena, while the other had practically no experience whatever, it would not take such a fight as that between Gibbons and Bloomfield seriously. But then the gate receipts would suffer as a consequence, and it is only after the event that the truth comes out. The present fashion is for newspapers to out-do the sporting press in the manufacture of pseudo "boxing champions" who never live up to expectations but who know everything about the art of "coming back."

A PITIFUL ARMY.

Britain will have no chance of winning the world's championship from American holders until her heavy-weights not only change their style of boxing, but get the experience that makes a fighter. One ought to be. Look back over the list of British claimants during the past fifteen years and see what a pathetic figure they have each cut in the ring. "Bombardier" Wells—a pretty a boxer as ever donned the gloves; afflicted with what his apologists termed "an unfortunate temperamental defect," which, interpreted, means that he had no fighting spirit. "Joe" Beckett—with less of the "temperamental defect," and less of boxing science. And now Bloomfield, whose claims to fame may be summarised as (a) a keenness for fighting; (b) the possession of a punch that never lands; and (c) a wonderful gameness in taking a hammering that is inevitable, and about which he knows little or nothing during the fray.

The quality of these aspirants for the world's championship was in the case of the first two shown to be nil when Carpentier met them, and in Bloomfield's case disappeared altogether after the first round with Gibbons. Carpentier's form, anyway, was obviously never an accurate gauge of British boxing quality, considering the comparatively poor showing the Frenchman made when confronted by American boxers. To use an old expression of the ring, it would seem that British heavies of the past decade or so "couldn't knock a chop off a grid-iron."
The much-vaunted quality of gameness under punishment—applicable only in the case of Bloomfield—is at best a negative one. It does not win championships; it only demonstrates the spirit of martyrdom in the loss of them.

It would be well for those who desire to know why Britain does not produce a real champion—or a real claimant to the right to fight for the championship, to study the conditions that go to make American heavy-weight boxers what they are. The first thing they will discover is that no American boxer gets anywhere near championship class without first fighting his way right up to it from the very bottom. He is a veteran of the ring—no matter how young he may be—long before he is ever heard of as a possible aspirant for a match with the champion. Men like Corbett, Fitzsimmons, Jeffries, Burns, Johnson, and Dempsey, and others such as Sharkey, Ruhlin, Brennan, Greb, and Gibbons, had to fight a dozen times a year, and for years, before they were heard of. How many contests has Bloomfield fought to make him a pretender to the heavyweight belt, or justify his meeting with any hopes of success a seasoned warrior like Gibbons? How many fights, worth calling such, had "Bombardier" Wells or "Joe" Beckett in the whole course of their respective careers?

GULLING THE PUBLIC.

It may be true—in fact it is so—that fighters are born, not made; but it is impossible to tell whether a man is a born fighter until he has demonstrated it by successive battles in the ring. Yet the British heavy-weight, after four or five encounters with opponents whose quality is palpably no test of skill, or the fighting spirit, is presented in exaggerated terms to the public as a future champion. The public is induced to invest him with the mantle of Sayers, or Charley Mitchell; in him are reposed the hopes of the nation, and when the mantle drops from his shoulders, and the hopes are dissipated by a couple of punches, it

BRUTE BASEBALL?

STRONGEST MAN IN BIG LEAGUES: RIVALS HERCULES.

[BY CHRISTY WALSH.]

Who is the strongest man in baseball?
That's one question that really ought to be answered without an argument.

Many people say that Eddie Collins is the smartest man in the game to-day.
But you can always get an argument on that one. Many say that Walter Johnson, in his prime, was baseball's swiftest pitcher. But you can get into a regular debate on that one, too. The records show that Ty Cobb, at his best, was the king of all base-stealers, but friends of Max Carey and other speed boys will put up an argument against the mighty Ty.

But any baseball jury would surely hand the strong-man verdict to Lawrence Hackenschmidt, Miller of the Chicago
Cubs. Outside of Samson and Hercules, no one in the history of baseball has done the things that Hack has done. And as far as "Sam" and "Herc" are concerned, neither one is recognized in National League records. In fact, Samson wasn't recognized by anybody after Dalliah up and bobbed his hair.

SICKNAMED AFTER FAMOUS WRESTLER.

But Hack Miller, nicknamed in honour of Mr. Hackenschmidt, one of our most cultured wrestlers, has done strong things that make the Ringling Brothers' strongman look like a week-old baby. If Hack could only shove a ball through the infield of the Giants like he can shove a spike through four inches of hardwood, Frankie Frisch would have to go back to the scoreboard for his bunts.

Hack's dad was also a man of mighty sinew. In fact, to hear him tell it, Hack only a weakling in comparison. Dad was a playmate of John L. Sullivan, and on one occasion, they were walking down the street and found a wagon full of coconut had run over a little boy. People were trying to lift the wagon off the little fellow's foot. The two giants volunteered their services immediately, but while John L. was removing his coat Hack's dad pulled a couple of telegraph poles out of the ground and pried the wagon up.

14 POUNDS FOR HIS WEIGHT; SWIPED SIX BASES.

So it's no wonder that Hack Miller of the Cubs is a husky citizen. He weighs over 200 pounds and gets around fast, for such a hefty frame-work. The Cubs are one of the fastest-moving clubs in either major league, and the surroundings make it tougher for Hack than if he played somewhere else. And yet it is surprising to learn that the big boy swiped six bases last year. It isn't many, but at least it is as many as these boys got: Holke, McInnis, Mokon, Tierney, Stenzel, Tobin, Sewell, Witt, Judge or Gerber, and nobody calls any of that crowd fatfooted.

Of course, the big question is, does Hack Miller's great physical power improve his value as a ball-player? Manager Killifer says he frequently gives his ball club the punch it needs in a pinch, but outside of that the lighter and swifter men seem to have sufficient punch to play a better all-round game.

Miller's batting average last year was 301, which included 24 two-baggers, two three-baggers and 20 after the old fence.
His batting average, comparatively low,
would be offset if Hack had more distance wallpapers to his credit. You can't laugh off 20 home runs in anybody's league, because that's more than George Kelly of the Giants got last year and twice as many as the heavy-hitting Bob Meusel of the Yankees. But as compared with 41
by Cy Williams, who is much lighter, much thinner and surely not as strong as Husky Hack, the big conundrum is:
How much power does a batter need to be a powerful batter?

is said by the critics that there is something indefinable about it. There is nothing of the sort.

Certain things are wanted to develop a British heavy-weight boxer into anything like championship class. First of all he must be as keen on fighting as he is on fishing, or any other desirable form of recreation. Then he must be taught that his fists will be in the ring, and not in the gymnasium. After a thorough course of tuition in modern methods of fighting, the British heavyweight needs plenty of fighting. If he cannot get it in England, he should endeavour to live for a year where he will get all his quality justified or his stoic will stand, and that is on the Pacific Coast of the United States—where the champions come from. There he can meet all classes of fighters, each one eager to qualify by experience and record to advance a stage nearer the championship. While British boxers are satisfied to fight no more than half a dozen times before claiming the right to be considered for the championship, while they have no other qualification than a reputation for possessing a punch and pluck, they must be content to see the championship elude them.

The film of the fight brings out clearly the farical pretence of Bloomfield to be regarded as a first-class exponent. He is not merely slow, he is grotesquely ponderous, and Gibbons never had any trouble to break through a thoroughly unscientific defence. He dealt out punishment at leisure because Bloomfield was deplorably defenceless. To talk about the contest as "a great fight" is to descend to superlative non-sense. The event serves to show that columns of preparatory, ecstatic exaggeration count for nothing when a tenth-rate boxer meets a real fighter in earnest combat. How long the public will continue to be guiled by deceptive artifices remains to be seen. The fact that not one-third of the people who were present at the Wembley Exhibition considered it worth while to patronise the boxing contest speaks contempt. The squallid squabble about finance may also be left to sort itself out, but small tribute to the clean side of British sport will come to the surface in the process.

Have You Seen This New Fountain Pen?

It loads like a gun!!

It fills with a sealed
cartridge of ink.
The John Hancock Cartridge Pen has revolutionised the writing problem. Ink-stained fingers, soiled clothes, and short tempers are things of the past.

You simply insert a sealed cartridge of pure liquid ink into the barrel of the pen—give a turn, which punctures the cartridge making the pen ready for use. The pen itself is made of finest vulcanite, faced with heavy weight

CRICKET TURF.

In the Cornhill Magazine, the Rev. Edward Lyttelton asks, "What is the matter with cricket to-day?" and goes on to say that the billiard-table wicket injures the game in its very vitals.

(a) It makes things easy for the batsman, difficult for the bowler. May a shoddy batsman has made a century in his time, not having had through the whole innings a difficult ball to play. Meantime, bowlers not blessed with a swerve are of no use to their side unless they have boundless endurance. When no one can bowl a hard ball, the best bowler is the one who can go on longest. Bowling is a species of treadmill, and I can hardly believe that young amateurs will continue to practise it. A public school is not a prison or anything like one, and none of their training will fit the requirements of a treadmill, trodden only by the outsiders who have to make a livelihood.

(b) We remember, as the wickets all over the country became smoother, over-hand bowling came in, men discerning that the only chance of keeping down the runs was to make the ball bound high. Result: if by chance there was a rough spot overlooked, death loomed close at hand.

(c) The bowlers next discovered that they must keep the ball on the off-side entirely, so as to stop leg-hitting; and conglomerate the field on the off, with there short slips, etc. Result—horrible monotony; many balls being left alone by the batsman and total disappearance of the grandest features of the game—to wit, long-leg hitting, long-leg fielding, and the long-on drive with the bat vertical.

(d) Not only would balls never shoot, but they ceased to turn, only a genius now and then being able to effect a break-back from the off; and no one dreaming of a curl from leg, such as that of "Granny" Martingell, for fear of being hit to the outside.

Dr. Lyttelton says that thus man "has done his best to spoil the fun, and the game is now living on its past. Certain it is that it is never would have been invented if in its earlier stages it had been like what it is on all "perfect" wickets to-day. But what is to be done?

There is only one thing to be done. The pitches should be so treated that, though they would be level, and never dangerous, the grass would restore shooters and—quite as important—give a good chance to an average bowler to make the "ball turn." That could be done by careful experiments on different soils. The result aimed at would simply be wickets always a bit difficult, never dangerous. Some of the many experts in grass surfaces who know how to treat the different greens on a golf course would be able to advise, and if part of the practice ground at Lord's were devoted to the experiments, in two years' time we should be within sight of the goal.

THE OPIUM HABIT.

VIEWS OF "THE MEDICAL PROFESSION IN CHINA."

The International Anti-Opium Society in Peking has forwarded to the League of Nations "A memorial from the Medical Profession in China" in which they say inter alia:

"We hereby record our opinion that the habitual use of opium, and still more of morphine and heroin, is unnecessary, deleterious and morally degrading; we repudiate entirely the suggestion that the habitual or continual use of these drugs (except when prescribed by physicians in cases of advanced and painful diseases such as cancer) can ever be anything but harmful.

"Recognising that a certain proportion of the victims acquired the drug habit in connection with the medicinal use of drugs, and as the habit so acquired is often worse than the disease itself for which it was prescribed, we desire to emphasise once again that the greatest care should be exercised by physicians in prescribing such drugs, and that no lay person should be permitted to purchase opium in any form except upon the prescription of a properly qualified medical practitioner.

"We hereby record our conviction that owing to the nature of morphine and the other narcotic alkaloids, no measures to prevent smuggling can ever prove efficient, and therefore, we heartily endorse the view that the total world production in all countries should be so limited that the total world requirements for medical and scientific use of these drugs shall not be exceeded.

CINEMA NOTES.

THE WORLD THEATRE.

"Little Cafe," which is now showing at the World Theatre, is a bright comedy production with Max Linder as comedian, gentleman, social bouncer and lover. He runs away from his uncle's stately home and roughs it in the streets of Paris. Every reel of this super-production is packed with laughs, as one side-splitting situation follows another, till they reach a climax of roaring hilarity.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.

Early success has attended the career of Gareth Hughes who plays Jimmy, the orphan, in "Forget-Me-Not" which is showing at the Queen's Theatre from today. His first experience as an actor was at the age of thirteen when he joined a Shakespearean road company in England. He went to the United States with the Welsh players and later became a member of the Ben Greet Players. As a boy lieutenant in the war play "Moloch" he made his first big New York hit. As the juvenile lead in A. H. Woods' production of "The Guilty Man" he made a signal hit. In the J. M. Barrie play "The New World" Mr. Hughes created the role of the boy at the Empire Theatre, New York, and as leading man with Marguerite Clark in "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" were followed by his enlistment as a private in the army. Mr. Hughes played opposite Viola Dana in "The Chorus Girl's Romance" and was loaned by (Continued at foot of next column.)

MEMORIAL TO LATE CAPTAIN PLANT.

PIONEER OF YANGTZE
NAVIGATION.

MONUMENT ON THE HSIN TAN AND A BURSARY FUND.

The erection of a monument of Hanan granite 50 feet in height to perpetuate the memory of the late Capt. S. C. Plant has been completed on the site of the bungalow in which Capt. and Mrs. Plant used to live in the Yangtze Gorges, at the Hsin Tan, on the left bank of the river about 31 miles above Ichang.

They died while on their way home—the husband on board ship and the wife after arrival at Hongkong and both were buried at Happy Valley in the same grave. It is through the energies of the late Capt. Plant that a large number of steamers now ply on the dangerous waters of the Upper Yangtze, improving communication and trade with the interior of China.

The inception of the scheme to perpetuate the memory of Capt. Plant by a monument came from his friends, Chinese and foreign, in the neighbourhood of the Upper Yangtze, and from Mr. W. W. Mariner, of the firm of Messrs. Yarrow & Co., who was on a visit to China, supported by the shipping firms interested in the Upper Yangtze, and the Chinese Maritime Customs. But the proposal to erect a monument to Capt. Plant's memory would have taken very much longer to have borne fruit had it not been for the spontaneous promise of financial support made by the seven shipping firms comprising the Shanghai Committee and the Inspector-General of Customs.

THE FIRST STEAM CRAFT.

Capt. Samuel Cornhill Plant came to China in 1898, having been engaged by Mr. Archibald Little to command the s.s. Pioneer (the first merchant steamer to visit Chungking, the outcome of Mr. Little's persistent efforts to open the Upper Yangtze to steam navigation) belonging to the Yangtze Trading Company. Capt. Plant having been selected for this command because of his knowledge of the Euphrates, a somewhat similar river to the Upper Yangtze.

For the purpose of learning the River he made a few trips in Mr. Little's steam launch the Leechuan—the first steam craft to ascend the Rapids, in February, 1903, and in June, 1900, he took the Pioneer up to Chungking. The Boxer trouble then broke out and the Pioneer was commandeered by the British Government and was shortly afterwards taken over by the British Naval Authorities, rechristened the Kinslow and used as a gunboat.

Capt. Plant then offered his services to the British Naval authorities, but without success, so he took service with the French Navy in 1901, piloting their gunboats, the Olyra and others, between Ichang and Saifu for a number of years. During this time he studied the river minutely with a view to determining the best type of cargo steamer for the river, and in 1908 he succeeded in inducing the Szechuen Steam Navigation Company to adopt his ideas, and they sent him to England to superintend the construction of a new steamer, the Shuhun, by Messrs. Thornycroft, which was mainly his own design and which he commanded with great success from 1909 to 1912.

AS RIVER INSPECTOR.

The experience gained by the Shuhun encouraged the owners to order a much larger steamer, which was built by Messrs. Yarrow & Co., Capt. Plant helping to design her and superintending construction, and, as the Shuhun, he ran her from 1913 to 1915 as successfully as he had the Shuhun.

In 1915, when he felt the time had come for a better supervision of the river between Ichang and Chungking, he offered his services to the Customs and was appointed River Inspector.

In order to supervise the work of training pilots to pilot steamers he built a house on the Hsin Tan, where he later lived with his wife, and it is on this site that the memorial has been erected. He filled his post as River Inspector from April, 1915, until his death on February 29th, 1921, with great credit, and the present progress in navigation on the Upper Yangtze is the result of his indefatigable labours.

Captain Plant, who was loved by all those who knew him, was a quiet man with a great horror of publicity. He was a friend to all, both foreign and Chinese alike, and most generous and helpful with his advice to those who sought it for the construction of new steamers, or the surmounting of the numerous difficulties connected with the River.

Capt. Plant's success on the Upper Yangtze was made possible by the initial venture of Mr. Archibald Little to open up the Upper Yangtze to steam navigation, to whom Capt. Plant always referred as his patron, and whose efforts he was never tired of praising.

A DOUBLE MEMORIAL.

There has been established a Memorial Fund, to perpetuate the memory of Capt. Plant, and this will be administered as in the following way:—

1.—The erection of a plain granite monument, about 50 feet high, on Pyramid Hill, on the opposite side of the river to Ichang, roughly estimated to cost $15,000.

2.—The establishment of a "Mrs. Plant Bursary"—a trust fund of $4,000 the interest on which is to be devoted, in the first place to educating and providing for the two Chinese girls for whose welfare Mrs. Plant had made herself responsible, and when they had ceased to need it, to the education of girls of a similar class.

3.—Some other work of general public benefit (e.g., a drinking fountain for thirsty travellers, a public ferry at the Hsin Tan, or a Mercantile Marine "Plant" Scholarship) as may be decided by the Committee later and the sum of money subscribed may permit.

THE KING OF SIAM AT SINGAPORE.

H.M. the King of Siam last week paid a visit to Singapore and was received with all the customary royal honours.

The official character of His Majesty's visit to the Colony closed with the dinner at Government House, following which the visit has taken on a private aspect, His Majesty taking part in various engagements in a private capacity.

H.M. the King of Siam was born on January 1st, 1881. His early education was in the hands of a private tutor. Later he was educated at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, which he entered in 1898, and then at Christ Church, Oxford, in 1900. He was proclaimed heir to the throne of Siam on the death of his elder brother in 1905. His Majesty represented the King of Siam at the Jubilee of Queen Victoria in 1907. He also represented his late father at the funeral of Queen Victoria, at the King of Spain's coronation and King Edward's coronation in June, 1902. While at Sandhurst His Majesty was attached to 1st Battalion Durham Light Infantry, 1899, and during the same year was attached to No. 6 Mountain Battery during training at Okehampton. In November and December, 1899, His Majesty joined the school of musketry at Hythe and obtained an officer's extra certificate. Some years ago he was made an Honorary General of the British Army.

CHINA-AUSTRALIA STEAM- SHIP CO.

GOING INTO LIQUIDATION.

As a result of a long series of losses in the shipping trade between Australia and China, the China-Australia Steamship Company, Sydney, is passing into liquidation. The company, which has been in business for two years, took over the business of the China-Australia Mail Line, which was inaugurated in 1918. It is stated the losses incurred from the inception of the line in this year have been £180,000. The steamer Victoria, the only vessel left in the company's fleet, is in the hands of a receiver.

WEDDING.

READER-HARRIS-TURNER.

The marriage took place at the Church of St. John the Baptist, Port Edward, Weihaiwei, on the 25th September of Mr. Montgomery Reader-Harris, M.C., son of the late Mr. Reader-Harris, K.C., and Miss Millicent Damasia Turner, daughter of Sir Skinner and Lady Turner. The Resident Chaplain, the Rev. C. R. Burnett, officiated and Mrs. Burnett presided at the organ.

St. John's Church was tastefully decorated for a very interesting event in white and purple by lady residents, the chancel with white asters and Michaelmas daisies and the rest of the interior with purple asters. Glorious weather, so typical of Weihaiwei in September, favoured the happy occasion.

Entering the church to the strains of an appropriate voluntary, the bride, who was given away by her father, Sir Skinner Turner, looked charming in beautifully cut white satin marocain, trimmed with crystal and pearl embroidery and orange blossom. The veil was of tulle forming a long thin train held in with a wreath of orange blossom. She carried a large bouquet of white asters. Miss Florence Craddock acted as bridesmaid and was dressed in gracefully draped pale green crepe de chine, effectively ornamented in front with large rosettes of iridescent sequins, worn with hat to match, trimmed with a white drooping ostrich feather. Her bouquet was of pale pink asters and she wore a gold bangle, a gift from the bridegroom. Lady Turner was in navy blue silk crepe, embroidered in Oriental colours with hat to match. She carried purple asters.

During the signing of the register, "Perfect Love," to Lord Crofton's setting, was played; and the Wedding March from "Lohengrin" as the bridal party left the church.

A reception followed at Government House, by the kindness of the Officer Administering the Government, Mr. Russell Brown, on the lawns of which the happy couple received the congratulations of a number of friends. It was a large party for Weihaiwei, if small in comparison with the much wider circle of friends in China and elsewhere.

Mr. and Mrs. Reader-Harris left later to spend a brief honeymoon in Chefoo.

Mrs. Reader-Harris's going-away dress was of beige satin marocain, trimmed with folds of the same material and attached with a tone with a big hat to match.

1.—A granite pyramidal obelisk 50 feet in height has just been erected at Hsin Tan, costing about Shanghai Tls. 13,000 (the figure given is approximate, because some payments connected with the erection of the monument have not yet been settled).

2.—The "Mrs. Plant Bursary" is in operation on the lines indicated above.

3.—The provisions of this paragraph could not be complied with until the monument had been completed and it is known what funds remain at the disposal of the Plant Memorial Fund Committee.

A full account of the matter will shortly be issued in pamphlet form to all subscribers, among whom are a number of prominent Chinese, who have fully realized the great value of Capt. Plant's work.—N.C. Daily News.

COMPANY MEETING.

DAIRY FARM, ICE AND COLD STORAGE CO., LTD.

The 25th ordinary annual meeting of the Dairy Farm, Ice and Cold Storage Co., Ltd., was held at the Lower Albert Road office, on Saturday morning. Mr. A. B. Stewart presided, and those present included Messrs. D. M. Ross and J. P. Warren (Directors), A. Stevenson (Manager), M. Manuk (Secretary), and the following shareholders: Messrs. T. Oliphant, C. Makeham, Chan Tong, B. W. Bradbury, J. Jack, N. W. Page, Chan Nai-pan, W. A. Eastaer, J. Smith, Chack-luen, and F. Ellis.

CHAIRMAN'S SPEECH.

The CHAIRMAN said: Gentlemen—Although the result of the year's working is not as good as that of last year, I think you will agree that it is not unsatisfactory considering the difficult conditions with which we have had to contend. The typhoon last year damaged the major portion of the rice crop and thus created a shortage of fodder. This, coupled with the unsettled conditions in South China, made it almost impossible to obtain cattle food at anything like the usual prices, and we were compelled to pay higher prices locally and to import fodder from Canada and Australia, with the result that, during the year under review, our cattle food cost us $63,000 more than in the previous year, although there was only a small increase in the number of our herd. I regret to say that present indications are that conditions will not be much better this year unless there is a speedy end to the troubles in North China, where most of our cattle food comes from.

THE NEW ICE PLANT.

The new ice plant at our East Point Factory was completed and started operations on September 1st, and on September 14th we held an official opening ceremony, which was duly reported in the local papers. We had hoped to be in a position to start the making of ice early in the summer, but owing to labour troubles and other causes the building was not completed in time. It is estimated that owing to this unfortunate and unforeseen delay, our revenue suffered to the extent of about $50,000, as we were unable to cope with an exceptional demand for ice during the hot season. This caused a certain amount of inconvenience to customers, which is much regretted. But for the exceptional circumstances already referred to, we should have been in a position to place before you a very much better result. I might mention, however, that the Company's turnover constituted a record, which, needless to say, meant a great deal more work for the staff, and your Directors have voted them a bonus of 15 per cent. on their salaries, which I trust will have your approval.

At this juncture I should like to express the thanks of the Board and the shareholders to the Manager, the Secretary, the Superintendents and the staff for their devotion to work and their keen interest in the welfare of the Company. Early in the year, your Directors deemed it advisable to send the Company's Secretary to Australia. Mr. Manuk while there was able to effect considerable savings by entering into favourable contracts and making various purchases for the Company, and this to a great extent is responsible for the maintenance of our profits in spite of the adverse conditions mentioned.

SUPPLYING KOWLOON.

On looking through the accounts, you will observe that Profit and Loss Account has been credited with $92,000.38 the net profit made on the sale of Kowloon Island Lot 619. It was the intention of your Directors, when they bought this property, to put up a building thereon for a depot to serve Kowloon, but it was found that this necessitated too big an outlay, and the scheme was therefore abandoned. We now have other schemes in mind for meeting the requirements of Kowloon's growing demands.

FINANCIAL RESULTS.

The net profit for the year, after writing off depreciation, bad and doubtful debts, etc., amounts to $303,959.53, which, together with the sum of $10,082.43 brought forward from last year's account, makes a total of $313,041.96. It is proposed to deal with this balance as follows:—Pay a dividend of $1.50 per share on 200,000 shares, $300,000; transfer to credit of Typhoon and Fire Insurance Fund, $18,842.40; carry forward, $16,200.61. You will observe that the sum of $16,200.61 has been appropriated during the year from the Fire and Typhoon Insurance Fund to repair some of the damage done by the 1923 typhoon. It is now proposed to replace this amount, thus raising this fund to $100,000, the figure at which it stood last year.

You will also observe that this year our losses in bad and doubtful debts are unusually heavy. This is due to a loss of $14,537.31, owing to us by the China Mail S.S. Company, which went into liquidation. I might mention that this Company had been dealing with us for a number of years and their accounts were always paid regularly. We have done our best to recover this sum, but I am afraid there is very little hope of success.

The Company's properties, machinery, stocks and investments are shown in the balance sheet at conservative valuations, and I think you will agree that the Company is in a very sound position. Prospects of a growing volume of business are favourable, and with our present capacity for manufacturing ice and handling various foods, we are in a position to take care of the Colony's increasing demands for some years to come.

LOCAL SPORT.

CRICKET.

MR. HANCOCK'S XI. v. MR.
PEARCE'S XI.

Just as Mr. Hancock's side took the field at 1.15 p.m. on Saturday the rain began to fall. In spite of this and a very strong gale blowing from the Dockyard an attempt was made to continue the match. Bowler off his third ball got A. A. Runjahn caught at slip by Hancock off one that got up quickly. Armstrong followed, but entirely mistimed his first ball and was c and b. More came in and scrambled a single.

Webster bowling against the wind entirely deceived More who played right inside one, but Owen-Hughes at first slip dropped an easy catch. In Bowler's next over Balhatchet got a nice four to long leg off a short, but immediately after was bowled by a beauty which turned in sharply and just touched the off stump. More got Webster to long leg for four, but was nearly out in the slip again, the ball pitching just short off Hancock's reach. After an over from Bowler the fielders, thoroughly wet, retired and shortly after the match was abandoned. It will be resumed at 4 p.m. on Wednesday if possible.

It was hardly a fair test of cricket, but I think it will take Finnie some time to settle down as a wicket keeper, and Stripp, as a better bat, should now be fairly sure of a place, as Davies is again on the injured list. Bowler bowled well under favourable conditions.

THE MILITARY BOXING.

Owing to the typhoon weather on Saturday night the Military boxing tournament at Murray Barracks was postponed to Wednesday next.

A REPUTATION TO MAINTAIN.

The health of the herd, I am pleased to say, continues to be good. During the year under review, we imported 45 head of cattle and intend to place an order for 40 more to arrive early next year to meet next summer's demand for milk. I take this opportunity to assure you and the public that no effort or expense is spared to keep up the standard and purity of our supplies, and the public can rely on this Company doing its best at all times to ensure that these are above suspicion. This Company's reputation and success has been built up on the excellence of its supplies, and it is the aim of your Directors and the Management to see that this reputation is maintained.

DIRECTORS RE-ELECTED.

Messrs. W. S. Brown and J. P. Warren, retiring directors, were re-elected on the proposition of Mr. H. W. Page, seconded by Mr. T. Oliphant.
Messrs. Percy Smith, Seth and Fleming were re-elected auditors on the proposition of Mr. B. W. Bradbury, seconded by Mr. C. Makeham.
The dividend warrants were declared ready.

THE TYPHOON.

RAIN STORM CAUSES GREAT DAMAGE AT HAPPY VALLEY.

POOR PROSPECTS OF RACING NEXT WEEK.

After a season remarkably free from typhonic gales, Hongkong experienced its first real typhoon blow of the season over the week-end. At one time it looked as if the typhoon was heading straight for the Colony and on Saturday afternoon it was within 150 miles S.S.W. of Hongkong. Its direction then changed slightly and at 7 a.m. yesterday it passed over Hoihow, after holding a practically steady West by North course all the way from North Luzon.

The No. 1 typhoon signal was first hoisted on Friday evening at 7.10 o'clock, though at that time local conditions on the harbour were fairly peaceful. At 9 a.m. on Saturday the No. 4 signal was put up, indicating that a gale was expected from the East (N.E. to S.E.). From then onwards weather conditions began to get worse. Small craft sought shelter in the typhoon refuges and the larger vessels drew away from the wharves and went either to Kowloon Bay or Lai-chukok for shelter. The Empress of Australia went to a buoy on the fairway and rode out the gale there. Much to the surprise of people along the waterfront, the s.s. Kosmos, homeward bound with the mail, sailed promptly at noon, despite the fact that the typhoon was to the "South of the Colony." By taking an Easterly course the vessel kept clear of the centre of the typhoon and at 6.30 a.m. yesterday a report was received at the Royal Observatory, giving her position as Lat. 20.20 (N.) and Long. 114.10 (E.). She was then experiencing E.S.E. winds, force 6 to 7.

THE FERRY SERVICE.

The Star ferry service was maintained throughout the day, and, despite some difficulty, being experienced in embarking and disembarking passengers, the ferries managed to run to schedule times. At 2.45 o'clock in the afternoon when the storm appeared to be getting worse, the red flag was hoisted on the Star ferry wharves at Kowloon and Hongkong, an indication that the ferries might stop running at any moment. The Yaimati ferries stopped running at 2.45 p.m. and did not resume during the afternoon.

REPORTS FROM SHIPS AT SEA.

According to reports from ships at sea received at the Royal Observatory, the position of the typhoon at 8 a.m. on Saturday, as reported by the s.s. City of Dublin was Lat. 19.50 (N.), Long. 114 (E.). The ship was then experiencing a N.E. wind, force 10, her barometrical reading being 29.29.

About the same time that the s.s. Kung Yuen, in from Lat. 20.38 (N.), Long. 113.7 (E.) reported E. winds, force 10, her barometrical reading 29.30. In the afternoon the same vessel sent through another wireless from Lat. 20 (N.), Long. 113.5 (E.) reporting the wind squalls of hurricane force. By then her barometrical reading being 29.29.

At 7.20 a.m. yesterday the s.s. Chukwa Maru sent a wireless message from Lat. 20.15 (N.), Long. 110.15 (E.), which is just off Hoihow, reporting winds of force 12 velocity (typhoon force), her barometrical reading 29.30.

THE WIND AND RAIN IN HONGKONG.

The highest squall velocity registered in Hongkong was at 1.55 a.m. yesterday when 69 miles per hour were registered. During Saturday afternoon, and throughout the night, there were heavy rain squalls and during the early part of Sunday morning there was a continuous downpour of rain lasting several hours. Between 2 p.m. on Saturday and 2 p.m. on Sunday 4.51 inches of rain were registered at the Observatory, making the total rainfall since January 1st up to 96.55 inches.

HAPPY VALLEY IN A DEPLORABLE STATE.

Little or no damage is recorded as a result of the wind squalls, but the damage to Happy Valley as the result of Saturday night's rain storm is, to say the least, serious. Despite the fact that the rainfall was comparatively light when one thinks of the heavy falls last year, the Valley appears to be in a worse state than ever it was. The work of the past few months in trying to effectively drain the race course, undertaken at great expense, counts for naught. The new sand-track, is ruined, whilst the lower portion of the valley is under water to the depth of several feet in places. Drawing a line from the top end of the Jockey Club enclosure right across the Valley to a little below the Rock there is a continuous sheet of water. From the condition of the Valley yesterday it is doubtful whether it will be possible to hold the Races next Saturday. But wonders are sometimes worked after heavy rainstorms in making the track possible for racing.

P.W.D. CULVERT.

When a representative of the Daily Press visited the Valley yesterday morning, the Jockey Club stewards had already begun to clear away some of the debris. Shortly afterwards a P.W.D. Official arrived on the scene and after viewing the landscape over expressively remarked: "That culvert has let us down again." It appears that the large nullah carrying the flood from the hillside above Wong Nei Chong Village overflowed during the night and the nullah wall became breached, in two places. The first breach is at the turn into the "home straight" where the rush of water took away the sod bank on the top of the wall, the water pouring over the grass track and over the sand track, carrying sand and rubble with it out on to the second green on the golf course. The second breach is more serious. It occurred at the extreme end of the Jockey Club enclosure, just where the nullah enters the culvert. Apparently the culvert could not take the great rush of water, and the side of the culvert burst, a large volume of water pouring over the grass and sand tracks with considerable force; so much so that large pieces of cement coping were swept from the culvert out on to the grass track, a distance of 10 yards. At this point the new sand track has been badly damaged, the top dressing of sand being completely washed away in places, leaving bare the under dressing of stone and cinders. Incidentally the first green and the eighth green of the golf course have suffered badly from the deluge. From a distance they appear to be completely covered with sand and rubble. Further down, everything is under water right down to the Naval Recreation Club.

COMPLETE BLOCKAGE.

It was the opinion months ago that if the culvert running under the enclosure was absolutely cleaned out of sand that the main difficulty of keeping the Valley from flooding would be overcome. For months past coolies have been working on clearing the culvert and the work was nearing completion. Apparently the clearing of the culvert of sand has made little or no difference, and the Valley is just as liable to be flooded as ever. A new drainage system was being introduced at the bottom end of the Valley, near the Naval Recreation Club. Whether this was already completed or representative was unable to learn, but judging from the depth of water at the bottom end of the Valley there appears to be a very complete blockage and that very little water is escaping from what appears to be a dam.

THEFT FROM A CHIEF ENGINEER'S CABIN.

WORK OF A RETURNED BANISHEE.

A Chinese pleaded guilty at the Central Magistracy, on Saturday, when charged with larceny from the cabin of the chief engineer of the s.s. Wing Hong, lying at Taikoo Dock. The engineer found defendant in his cabin with several of his personal belongings in his possession. Later he found a wedge inserted in one of his boxes. A second charge of returning from banishment was preferred against defendant and he was sentenced to three months' hard labour on the first charge and 12 months' hard labour on the second charge.

THE STRANDING OF THE "TINSING." FINDINGS OF THE COURT OF ENQUIRY.

ACCIDENT DUE TO NO. 2 PILOT'S INCOMPETENCY.

The Marine Magistrate (Lieut.-Comdr. G. N. Hole, R.N.), delivered, on Saturday morning, the finding of the Court of enquiry, which was held on Friday, to enquire into the circumstances attending the stranding of the Tin Sing in the West River on September 27th.

The Court was composed as follows:—Lieut.-Comdr. G. F. Hole, R.N. (President); Lieut.-Comdr. W. H. Jotham, R.N.; of H.M.S. Amphora; Capt. R. Cumming, Master of s.s. Maunsey; Capt. W. Muir, Master of s.s. Tung On; and Capt. W. Collam, Master of s.s. On Lee.

Mr. G. K. Hall, Bruton appeared for the China Coast Officers' Guild (Capt. D. Morgan and Chief Officer P. Scully), and Mr. Corbett for the owners, the Lien Mow S.S. Co.

Signed by all the members of the Court, the finding detailed the movements of the vessel before the stranding, and went on to state:—

"We find that the master, after his arrival on the bridge, did everything within his power to avert a disaster and that he did everything within his power for the safety of the passengers, crew and cargo after the disaster. We find that the port engine was put 'full ahead' and actually did go full ahead and was later put full astern. We find that the Chief Officer carried out his duty in pointing out to the pilot that the ship was out of position.

"We find that the cause of the casualty is due to the incompetence of Ng Ki, the No. 2 pilot, and blame is attributable to the owners, the Lien Mow Steamship Company, in that they neglected to ascertain whether Ng Ki was a competent pilot before engaging him, but relied solely on the advice of Chan Ki, the No. 1 pilot.

"The Court adjudge the Master, Mr. David Morgan, and the Chief Officer, Mr. P. Scully, to be exonerated from all blame."

DARING ROBBERY BY CHINESE.

JEWELLERY AND PURSE SNATCHED FROM LADY.

SCENE IN BROADWAY ROAD.

Three Chinese men are concerned in a daring broad daylight robbery which occurred in Broadway Road, near House 4, about 10.30 on Saturday morning.

Mrs. Deacon residing at No. 21, Broadway Road, reports to the police that whilst she was walking down Broadway Road she was accosted by three Chinese, who seized her and snatched her black leather purse containing $31. A gold wrist watch and bracelet worth $60, were wrested from her wrist, and they snatched from her neck a necklace of crystal stone, valued at $20. The robbers made their escape in the direction of Causeway Bay. Mrs. Deacon states that she could identify one of the robbers.

Up to the time of writing, no arrests had been made.

It is only a short time since Mrs. Deacon's house in Broadway Road was entered, and various articles stolen.

WEIHAIWEI CONSTABLE LOSTS REVOLVER.

FINED $100 OR SIX WEEKS.

A Weihaiwei constable was charged at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday morning, with having lost his revolver and six rounds of ammunition whilst on duty last Thursday. Defendant told the Court he had nothing to say. The Captain Superintendent of Police said he had originally taken the case himself, but he found it so serious that he thought a magistrate should hear it.

A statement was read by the Captain Superintendent in which defendant had said that he went on duty at midnight and when he reported at 4.10, he found that his revolver was missing and at once reported the matter to the sergeant on duty. He said he was sure that he had the revolver when he went on duty. Mr. Wolfe added that defendant had reported at 3.10 in the morning when the revolver was in the holster. Five minutes afterwards he had occasion to run after a small boy, but he was positive that nothing fell from him when running.

Mr. Wolfe said the revolver cost the Government $40, but defendant could sell it for $30. Defendant joined the Force eighteen months ago and had a clean record.

A fine of $100 or six weeks' hard labour was imposed.

ATTEMPTS TO OBTAIN PROMOTION.

BY IRREGULAR MEANS.

WARNING BY THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE COLONIES.

The current issue of the Government Gazette contains the following circular dispatch from the Secretary of State for the Colonies, dated August 16th, and addressed to the Officer Administering the Government:—

"Sir,—In his Circular despatch of the 17th of June, 1911, the late Viscount Harcourt disapproved attempts on the part of Colonial officials to seek the influence of Members of Parliament and others in this country as a means of bringing their services to the notice of the Secretary of State with a view to consideration for promotion.

Lord Harcourt pointed out that arrangements were in existence in the Colonial Office which ensured due consideration of the claims of all suitable officers on the occurrence of vacancies; and observed that the attempts which had been made to obtain promotion by irregular means had not been of advantage to the officers concerned.

From recent correspondence which has reached me I have formed the opinion either that the warning issued by Lord Harcourt's directions is not now generally known, or that the grave view of the practice taken by the Secretary of State is insufficiently realized. I have to request, therefore, that steps may be taken, by the publication of this despatch in the Gazette and by any other means available, to warn public officers that a proceeding such as that which has been deprecated will serve no useful purpose and, on the other hand, may actually be detrimental to the interests of those concerned.

REVENUE COLLECTIONS AT CANTON.

MILITARY RENOUNCE CONTROL.

A circular telegram has been issued by General Fan Shek Sang of the Yunnanese troops, announcing the release of the revenue officers under his control and their return to the proper financial authorities.

General Fan explains that he has been forced to take control of some of the revenue officers in order to support his troops, at a time when general disorder prevailed last year after the defeat of Chen Chiung Ming's troops and the subsequent arrival of his own troops in Canton.

In taking this step, General Fan is following the example set by General Hsu Chung Chi, the commander of the Cantonese troops, who had promptly complied with the Government's order to relinquish control of all the revenue collection offices in the districts occupied by Cantonese troops.

CANTON RIVER.

COMMERCIAL BODIES TO UNDERTAKE DREDGING.

Representatives of several commercial bodies have held a meeting to discuss plans for the dredging of the shallow portion of the river near the Macao forts, so as to facilitate the passage of steamers, says the Canton Gazette. On account of the accumulation of silt in that section of the river, serious risk is encountered by shipping when nearing the forts.

It was decided at the meeting that the commercial bodies should undertake the work of dredging the river and devise means for raising funds. The work, it is estimated, will cost from thirty thousand to one hundred thousand dollars, according to the scope of the dredging operations.

BANKNOTE CIRCULATION.

Returns of the average amount of bank notes in circulation and of specie in reserve in Hongkong, during the month ended September 30th, 1924, as certified by the managers of the respective banks, are given in the Government Gazette as follows:—

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS AND CHINA.

NOTWITHSTANDING the threat of the Chinese "Parliament" that China would withdraw from the League of Nations and cease to pay its large annual subscription of a million gold francs to the funds of the League if China were not elected one of the non-permanent members of the Council this year China, for the second year in succession, has failed to secure election. Only fourteen votes were given in support of her claim. This is four better than last year, but when it is mentioned that the majority required for the election of a State is twenty-four, and that the State at the top of the poll usually secures forty or more votes, the failure of China; after the protests and claims she has made in the matter, shows how little she really counts at Geneva. This is not surprising when the political chaos and woe of governmental inefficiency in China are taken into account. A Tientsin contemporary in the course of a series of articles on the present crisis in China recently made this observation:—

"It is the atmosphere of unreality in which China and her problems are invariably discussed at International Conferences that makes it so difficult to bring home to the peoples of Europe and America the actual facts regarding conditions in this country. They learn that China has a Parliament, which they naturally assume is an elected legislature representative of the whole nation, and when they are told that this Parliament demands a seat on the Council of the League, under threat of withdrawal, they actually take this bluff seriously. They do not know, of course, that the so-called Parliament consists of several hundred scoundrels who contrived to get themselves 'Elected' in the first year of the Republic, are in no way representative of the Chinese people, and who for two years past have not passed a single piece of constructive legislation, their only achievement being a Presidential election, and a so-called Permanent Constitution, for which they were lavishly bribed."

However, much the general public abroad may be gulled into thinking that Parliament in China for the same institutions that they are familiar with in their own states, the statesmen assembled at Geneva are not to be "bluffed" by any such illusions, as the voting in this election has clearly shown. Official China has studiously refrained from making any claim to a seat on the score of national efficiency; the claim was based entirely on geographical distribution of representation—a principle which China claims was recognised in the earlier elections. If considerations of population and extent of territory alone governed the voting, China, of course, would have a very obvious claim to the honour of one of the six seats, especially as since her failure to secure re-election there has been no representation of Asia in this non-permanent body. Japan is one of the permanent members of the Council. Of the six non-permanent members of the Council last year four of the seats went to Europe and two to South America. The result of the ballot last week left this representation unchanged.

The States elected were Uruguay, Brazil, Czechoslovakia, Spain, Belgium and Sweden. Reuter informed us that when the result of the balloting was announced the Chinese delegation left the hall in a body! There are some forty other States in the League who failed to secure representation on the Council, but we are not informed that the delegates of either of them joined in this childish exhibition of petulance. Whether the Chinese Government will now act on the resolution of the House of Representatives and withdraw altogether from the League, either temporarily or permanently remains to be seen. But Dr. WELLINGTON Koo, the Foreign Minister, who dazzled previous Assemblies of the League with his brilliant oratory and created impressions of China which it has evidently been discovered that political conditions in the country entirely fail to warrant, will be well able to appreciate the fact that China's withdrawal from the League would be a "magnificent gesture" which could only have the effect of definitely placing China in the category of nations which do not count for the present in the world—except as turbulent States which have to be carefully watched as being likely to provoke a disturbance of the world's peace by reason of the fact that effective Government control is lacking. Given any semblance of political efficiency in China, we cannot doubt that representation on the Council of the League of Nations would be readily accorded to a nation which occupies so large a space on the map of the world, but to appoint to the Council a State whose government is so hopelessly chaotic as China's would be a manifest absurdity. That consideration, without doubt, was the one determining factor in the failure of China, for the second time, to secure election, and the sponser this is clearly realised by the brighter might become the hope for sane and responsible Government in China.

Mr. Hu Han Min has assumed office as Governor of Kwangtung.

Dr. J. C. Dalmahoy Allan and Dr. G. D. R. Black have been appointed by H.E. the Governor to be members of the Dental Board.

H.E. the Governor has accepted the resignation of Lieutenant James Ralston of his Commission in the Hongkong Volunteer Defence Force.

The occurrence of an armed robbery at Lower Lascar Row was reported at the Central Police Station on Saturday.

Owing to the inclement weather Kowloon Dock swimming gala, which had been arranged to take place on Sunday, was postponed until further notice.

The typhoon rains made it a cheerless week-end for everybody—no cricket, football, hockey, boxing, swimming or tennis on Saturday, no golf on Sunday.

In Wongneichong on Friday a P.W.D. fitter was working over a water main when it suddenly burst, causing injuries to his head. He was removed to hospital.

The police have received a report from Mr. F. W. Stapleton to the effect that a good wristlet watch, valued at $25, has been stolen from his residence in Humphrey's Buildings, Kowloon.

As a result of certain action on the part of the Singapore Turf Club, the majority of the out-station owners have been forced to consider the question of boycotting all future Singapore race meetings.

A large crowd at the Hongkong Hotel, on Saturday evening, thoroughly enjoyed the first of the season's carnivals, when Mr. Whitey Smith's band, of the Astor House Hotel, Shanghai, provided the music.

An election by the Justices of Peace of a Justice of the Peace to serve on the Licensing Board for a period of three years from May 31st, 1924, vice Mr. A. R. Lowe, deceased, has been fixed for October 21st.

At the Central Magistracy on Saturday morning a Chinese recruit undergoing training at the Police School, who had absented himself three times during the six weeks he had been there, and heedless of a warning given him had absented himself for a fourth time, was sentenced to six weeks' imprisonment with hard labour.

Professor Malini, who enjoys world-wide fame as a magician, gave one of his entertainments on Saturday night in the Theatre Royal. Despite the inclement weather the Theatre was well filled and the audience were duly amazed and mystified by the magician's marvellous performances. H.E. The Governor and a small party from Government House occupied the front seat in the well of the theatre. A cause of complaint was the late start of the performance. It was announced on the tickets for 9.15, but the curtain did not rise until 9.30. Frequent complaint is made in Hongkong about people taking their seats after a performance is commenced, but people will not be persuaded to heed these complaints if entertainers themselves do not adhere strictly to the time announced for their performances.

FATHER BANCHI'S IMPENDING DEPARTURE.

PARTING DINNER AT CATHOLIC UNION CLUB.

A farewell dinner which was well attended was given by the Committee and Members of the Catholic Union Club to the Rev. Father A. Banchi, Rector of the Cathedral, on Saturday, on the Rev. Father's recall to Milan after 24 years of active missionary life in China.

Mr. P. Silva, the Vice-President of the Club, in proposing a toast to the guest of the evening dwelt on the service Father Banchi had rendered to the Catholic Community in general and the Club in particular. He said that few missionaries could accomplish what the Procurator of the Milan Mission had done so faithfully and well.

In a very touching speech the Rector said that the faith in God and the reverence which the community had at all times shown to him had made his missionary life in China so much easier than it otherwise would have been.

PORTUGAL'S ANNIVERSARY RECEPTION BY CONSUL-GENERAL.

In celebration of the anniversary of the Portuguese Republic, Mr. C. D'A. & Castro, Portuguese Consul-General, held a reception at the Club Lusitano on Saturday morning.

Among those who attended were: Capt. R. Neville, B.M.L.I., A.D.C. to H.E. the Governor; the Hon. Sir Claud Severn, K.B.E., Colonial Secretary; Mr. Justice H. E. J. Gompertz, acting Chief Justice; Mr. Justice A. Dyer Ball, acting Puisne Judge; the Hon. Mr. A. E. Wood, Secretary for Chinese Affairs; Commodore H. E. Grace, R.N.; and the Consul representatives of Holland, Italy, Peru and Brazil.

PARTY PREPARATIONS.

LABOUR'S FAVOURITE ISSUE.

LONDON, October 4th.

Enquiries at the Labour Party headquarters to-day show that while preparations are most active on the assumption of the imminence of an election, opinion is divided as regards the choice of issue. Mr. MacDonald is credited with a desire to dissolve on the Warrior Weekly issue, considering the Liberal demand for an enquiry in the circumstances of the dropping of the sedition charge as an intolerable implication against the Attorney-General; but a small group of Mr. MacDonald's supporters oppose an election on this point, thinking that the Attorney-General should resign. These represent a section most anxious to fight on the Russian Treaty.

Mr. Clynes, in reply to Reuter, said that Labour had never shirked a challenge either from the Liberals or Conservatives, and is ready to meet a challenge from both "political leaders who will be compelled to swallow their brave words of abuse and Ireland and Germany who will later have to face the same ordeal as regards Russia."

PREMIER'S CHALLENGE.

Interviewed by Reynolds's Illustrated News, Mr. MacDonald regretted that national interests were being sacrificed to party tactics and the business of the nation brought to a standstill while the Conservatives and Liberals conspired to turn out the Government on a side issue. He added, "My select committee, to which I would appeal, is not the members of the House of Commons, but 20,000,000 electors. While I do not seek an election, I am not afraid of it. By creating a condition of things which no Government can accept, their action takes from the Government the authority it requires to conduct the business of the nation both at home and abroad; forces an election and compels us to give up at a time when I think every patriotic motive should induce them to maintain the status quo. On a big issue of policy as regards Russia, Geneva or anything they like to raise, we are ready to meet their challenge."

ULSTER AND "OUR FLAG."

LONDON, October 4th.

Sir J. Craig received an ovation on his return to Belfast from London. In a speech to a crowd he said that, confronted with a fresh crisis, he had only one remark to make. Pointing to the Union Jack carried by the demonstrators, he said: "That is our flag!" His health had recovered and he was fit to lead the Ulstermen, however grave the situation.

NEWFOUNDLAND SCANDAL.

EX-PREMIER TO STAND TRIAL.

ST. JOHN'S (Newfoundland), Oct. 4th.

At the conclusion of the magisterial enquiry into the criminal charges against the ex-Premier, Sir Richard Squires, the magistrate announced there was sufficient prima facie evidence to justify him committing Squires for trial at the Supreme Court. Squires reiterated his absolute denial of any complicity in the matter. [Sir R. Squires was arrested in April last on a charge of alleged larceny concerning $20,000.]

ARRESTED ON EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGES.

PEKING, October 4th.

According to a foreign official report four directors of the Chinese Eastern Railway, appointed by Chang Tso Lin, namely Yuan Ching Kai, Fan Chi Kuan, Lu Chin and Lu Yung Kuan, have arrived at Harbin and have conferred with the Soviet directors.

As a result of the decision reached at this meeting, M. Ostroumoff, general manager of the railway, M. Gondatti, chief of the Pensions Department, and also one Russian director have been dismissed.

The Chinese local authorities subsequently arrested Ostroumoff and Gondatti on charges of alleged embezzlement.

SHANGHAI, October 4th.

A message from Harbin dated September 29th states that the Consular Corps has removed the seals from the archives of the Land Department of the Chinese Eastern Railway.

A message dated the 3rd inst. states that a committee composed of Chinese and Soviet officials took over the administration of the C.E.R. and dismissed the former administration.

MR. HUGHES SUPPORTS COOLIDGE.

CINCINNATI, October 5th.

Mr. Hughes, in a speech in support of President Coolidge's presidency campaign, said the issue was "why change?" For example, if the democrats were permitted to administer the Government they would rewrite the tariff, with all the resulting confusion to commerce. He regretted the introduction of foreign affairs into a campaign, but declared that the record of Coolidge was so well known that the insinuations of his detractors would recoil on themselves. The Americans favoured a reduction in armaments, but must be permitted to co-operate with other nations to that end without the sacrifice of their own policies.

Mr. Hughes stressed the incongruity of the democrats attacking the Government for joining the League of Nations, while their own platform avoided any immediate action in that direction by declaring for a referendum on the question.

Marshal Chang Tso Lin's headquarters report that a part of the third brigade cut off the retreat of the Chihli troops at Chapeng, south-west of Kingyuan, and captured one mixed brigade, fully equipped. It is also reported that the thirteenth and ninth divisions of the Chihli army have been scattered and pursued by Fengtien troops, who captured numerous guns, rifles, horses and military stores.

CHANG TSO LIN'S SUCCESSES.

MUKDEN, October 4th.

Marshal Chang Tso Lin has captured Chihfung.

It is confirmed that at Linyuan much material was captured after several hours of very hard fighting in which the Chihli forces suffered heavy casualties.

Marshal Chang has ordered the Shanhaikwan army not to advance hastily but to carefully prepare to attack.

A PEKING PROTEST.

PEKING, October 3rd.

Following the protest to the French Legation against the supply of twenty aeroplanes to Mukden, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs yesterday sent a Note to the Japanese Legation asking the Japanese authorities at Dairen to hold these aeroplanes if they arrive at Dairen, adding that it is understood a French steamer is bringing the machines.

The North China Standard reports that the s.s. Chantilly, went direct from Hongkong to Yingko on September 28th with aeroplanes for Chang and handed same to the 2nd Marshal's representatives who were waiting there.

ITEMS FROM PEKING.

PEKING, October 5th.

The cruiser Haichi and the gunboat Hanya on the 3rd captured at Fengtien a small war vessel near Taohua Island, to which it was making with two guns and supplies of ammunition. Tsao Kun has given a reward of $10,000 for the capture of the vessel and also $5,000 to the gunner who recently shot down a Mukden aeroplane on the Shanhaikwan front.

Official reports state that Government troops have captured Hung Ching Tan, on the Shanhaikwan front.

Tu Hsi Kuei and Chin Yun Peng have arrived at Peking.

A MUKDEN SUCCESS.

PEKING PROTEST TO MOSCOW.

PEKING, October 3rd.

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs yesterday telegraphed to Moscow concerning the conclusion of the Soviet-Mukden Agreement on the ground that it is contrary to international practice for a friendly Power to enter into an agreement with a local official without the consent of the Government concerned, and pointing out, moreover, that Chang Tso Lin had already been declared a rebel when the Agreement was signed, adding that the Central Government would never recognise such an agreement.

On account of the frequent reports of pirate activities along the coast in the Heungshan district, the Air Administration is also planning to establish another aviation base in Shekai, which is the seat of the Heungshan district, with a view to assisting the troops engaged in pirate suppression.

SCOTTISH SPORT.

SURPRISE IN THE LEAGUE.

THE CRICKET CHAMPIONS.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

EDINBURGH, September 3rd.

One of the great charms of Association football lies in those periodic upheavals which every now and then give the lie to all calculated form. At first glance the week's programme in the First Division of the Scottish League seemed a very ordinary affair, with possibly two points of live interest at Falkirk and Cowdenbeath; yet the unexpected check administered to the champions on their own ground, the equally unexpected victory of Celtic, and the prolific scoring which attended the Dundee and Greenock games all tended to transform it from the humdrum to something approaching the sensational. Kilmarnock's partial success was probably as astonishing to themselves as it was to their opponents, for they had disclosed nothing in their previous games to warrant much hope from their meeting with Rangers. The champions had, however, a decidedly off day, and although they did clever things these were spasmodic and not on the sustained scale which usually proves so devastating to the average defence. It is characteristic of Celtic that after playing three drawn games in succession they should choose Falkirk's ground to register their first victory of the season for, whatever their failings, want of courage is not one of them. If Dundee's forwards could be depended upon to do against Heart of Midlothian we could see them take a very high place in the competition. The tall scoring, was, however, as much or more the result of a remarkable collapse on the part of the Edinburgh half-backs than an access of skill to the Tayside club's attack. Queen's Park go on picking up points steadily. They now average one to each game, a quite satisfactory state of affairs.

NEW COUNTY CRICKET CHAMPIONS.

The Scottish cricket season is closing under bad weather conditions, and quite a lot of matches have had to be stopped. This was the case in the last game of the Scottish Counties Championship competition, that between Clackmannan County and Aberdeenshire, the abandonment of which left the first-named club undisputed winners, and, it may be remarked, worthy and popular winners. Had the game been played to a finish and Clackmannan lost they would have shared the honour with Perthshire. Clackmannan County are to be congratulated on their achievement. From the outset they have shown marked ability in all departments of the game, and in the field they had no superiors. Much of their success was due to the able leadership of the veteran T. A. Bowie.

The weather was responsible for Kelburne gaining a clear lead in the Western District Union Championship, as their game against Greenock and to be abandoned without a ball being bowled, which left the position unchanged, where as Uddingston, their greatest rivals for the honour, lost points through their match with Clydesdale, having to be abandoned as a draw. The other two abandoned games, however, were played to a finish, Drumpheller strengthening their position with a clever win over Polce. West of Scotland gave another inglorious display, and were soundly beaten by Fergushie.

It was a drawn match at Bristol between a Scottish XI and Gloucestershire. In the first innings Gloucester scored 225 for 9, and the Scots followed with 167. In the second innings Gloucester, with the object of forcing a win, declared at 111. Scotland, however, made a really and put up 147, stumps being drawn when they were 20 runs short with one wicket to fall.

PARIS FASHION NOTES.

[FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT, ISABEL RAMSAY.]

PARIS, August 25th.

The fashion of letting a scarf trail from a hat, in spite of a continued popularity that has lasted for two seasons still remains smart. The trailing scarf may be anything from a five-inch taffeta ribbon to a piece of georgette a yard wide and a yard and a half long. In this latter case it is apt to slip through the hat brim and wind itself about the neck in engraving folds.

The latest word from the greatest authority on men's fashions is that the coloured pocket handkerchief is without the pale. White is the proper colour for handkerchieves, whether they be silk or linen. Nevertheless, one of the smartest haberdashers in town, one whose name is synonymous with correctness, is showing linen handkerchieves with monograms embroidered in coloured thread, in a cut-work medallion.

To present a few flowers to the greatest advantage there are little flower stands of glazed pottery with a dozen or more holes pierced in them. These lie in a shallow bowl of water and can be made to hold the stems of irises, roses, pansies or any other flowers, large or small, so as to present each flower separately, and the bouquet as an harmonious arrangement of units, rather than as a mass.

French lingerie is famous the world over for its beauty and when one studies the best examples of "unlives" that Paris has to offer one notes that exquisite workmanship combines fine materials in the simplest of designs—and that this constitutes more than anything else the beauty of French lingerie. Only the other day Worth was showing some chemises of fine white linen, perfectly simple in cut, finished at the top with a straight band of real Valenciennes lace three inches wide. The shoulder straps were of white satin ribbon. The matching knickers showed the same simple simplicity, though they were slit a third of the way up the left side and edged, of course, with the Valenciennes lace which was nailed at the corners and carefully let into the linen at the side of the knickers.

The woman who loves fine needlework would certainly delight in copying some of the lingerie that Paris offers, and I may say that every type of fancy work is represented. Linen and cotton, voile chemises are adorned with drawn thread work which makes parallel lines and checks. There are crepe de Chine and silk voile chemises adorned with French embroidery, or with the fine Turkish point, which allows for the application of a layer of material on the under side of a thin material with most decorative effect. Deftly made items are finished in this style, also flower forms or geometric forms. The stitch is so far as I can gather, simple, the good old-fashioned "cat's stitch" worked on a very small scale, to fasten the edges of the stuff, but it is so fine and drawn so close that it suggests an openwork effect.

The "Frenchwoman" makes use of Cologne, one of the constant articles on her toilet table, and she uses it daily. Anglo-Saxons are apt to think of eau de Cologne as a substitute for thorough washing and hence shun it, but not so our Gallic sisters. They follow a thorough washing with liberal aspirations of eau de Cologne. This is quite natural that a Frenchwoman should have invented a crystal eau de Cologne bottle which swings on two pivots in a silver frame so that the cork once removed, one may take the fragrant liquid with one hand, unaided.

The Russian Eau de Cologne has been, for some time, the ideal of the smart world, but tastes for scent as well as for colour change, and we find that the fresh flowery eau de Cologne compounded of orange flowers, and bergamot and various citrus fragrances are returning to fashion. It is these, of course, which have always been the ones in perfect good taste. A veritable cologne also fresh and discreet is used a good deal too.

There is quite a vogue among good housewives in France for painted furniture, and a number of different effects are given to the woman who will give a little thought to devising an interesting combination of painted furniture. One friend of mine has set about furnishing her sitting room, in Oriental style. Accordingly, she has placed a divan in one corner, a set of simple bookshelves lacquered red, in another, and has sought out two raw wood stools which suggest Chinese chairs in their shape, and has lacquered them red as well. A small round table lacquered black and painted with Chinese landscape in gold, is a Louis XV. piece, and the final touch is given to the room with Indian Print bedspreads which serve as cover to the couch and a wall hanging above it, and the ornaments of real lacquer which adorn mantle piece and table.

Another room of painted furniture this friend has designed which is very different, but equally successful, is a sunny breakfast room. The walls are covered with plain paper in a beige tone, the floor is of polished wood, and the furniture chosen by one of the most sophisticated women I know, pretends to rural simplicity. The roomy gate-leg table is yellow as are the comb-back chairs. But this sunny colour is relieved by blue-green stripings, and the back board of each chair bears a group of dandelion flowers painted in blue and green and violet tones. The China service used in the room is of the old willow pattern, a rather greyish blue being chosen, and the napery is a delightful checked damask of blue and white.

Among the prettiest lampshades that Paris has to offer are those which are placed not too formally, into a simple frame which bare spreads toward the lower edge of the shade. Sometimes cretonne or printed muslin is used for the lampshades, sometimes China silk, or printed taffeta, and the edges are usually finished with a metal band of more or less fanciful design.

Aprons that are pretty and aprons that are witty are devised for the little girls. There are simple chambery pinafores which effectively cover a frock, bound with white braid and embroidered in white thread with a scene from some fairy tale—Cinderella riding into court (Continued at foot of next column.)
